

Announcement

Athens, Greece – 30 July 2018 – It is with great sorrow and grief that all MYTILINEOS employees pay their condolences for all the human losses and stand by the side of all those affected by the national disaster of the wild forest fires that broke out on 23 July 2018 in Attica, Greece.

As a small token of respect and aid to our fellow citizens, the Board of Directors of MYTILINEOS has decided to proceed with the following actions:

1. The deposit of € 1 million to the Special Aid Account of the Bank of Greece.
2. Protergia will proceed with a complete write-off of all the due amounts of its consumers whose properties have been destroyed and will also provide free of charge electricity for two months to all other Protergia consumers in the affected areas. (Specific details will be given to the beneficiaries)
3. Blood donation by the employees of MYTILINEOS in the company's offices and all other facilities, to the benefit of all the hospitalized and injured.
4. The participation of MYTILINEOS in the initiative of the Hellenic Federation of Enterprises for the restoration of the affected areas' infrastructures.
5. Our employees will continue to collect and deliver goods to cover basic needs of the affected, an initiative that has already started from the very first day following the disaster.

Devastated by the loss of so many people, we express our warmest condolences to the families of all those that have passed away and we wish for a fast recovery of the injured.
